

The SBDC National Economic Impact Survey is on its way to your email inbox!!

The National Small Business Development Center Headquarters is using an outside firm, the National Business Research Institute (NBRI), to conduct our National Economic Impact Survey this year. You will now receive the survey via email and will be able to respond online.

On Tuesday, June 19, 2018, you will receive the survey from SBDC@nbrii.com with the subject line: "SBDC needs your input".

You may have already received email announcements about this from Texas Gulf Coast SBDC Regional Network Executive Director, Steve Lawrence, and from NBRI since this particular survey is so important. It measures the economic impact of SBDC Clients and supports our continued grant funding.
